

New appointment at Nexus Logistics

Ben Fausett has recently been appointed as the National Business Development Manager at Nexus Logistics.

Ben brings a wealth of experience in transport & logistics to the Nexus team. Since gaining a Bachelors degree in Commerce from Auckland University, Ben has built up an extensive knowledge of the logistics industry and in particular the domestic transport sector working for a number of high profile domestic and multi-national logistics companies including NZL

Ben Fausett.

Group, Linfox and DHL. His logistics career spans across front line operational and senior operations management roles, through to the business development field.

Nexus Logistics are the 4PL logistics joint venture company, set up between Ports of Auckland & Netlogix Ltd, to provide container logistics and distribution services across the country via multi modal transport solutions and a comprehensive inland freight hub network.